We the Seniors of New Deal

do dedicate this the 1952

Roar to the memory of our

Buddies and Comrade who have gone down to a blood

soaked or cold watery grave

that freedom and democracy

might be saved

Superintendent's Message

We are school. Our schools are powerful in their influence on American way of life; yet the Churches and public schools are still the best in moral fiber, and democracy of any other institution in our fine country. We must bring ourselves to realize the rapid growth in school enrollment and progress. The fluctuating masses of children, hungry for an education, is our responsibility and the modern trends in education are challenging us to stay astride. We cannot be timid, afraidy, ok, doubtful; we must place our shoulder to the wheel.

Sincerely
W. L. Gomez, Supt.

As we the Seniors of 1951-1952 gather the last of our long line of lingering memories of school, we are proud to have been able to help preserve a few of these memories through this edition of the Roar.

We are grateful for all the help we have received from the faculty, students and anyone else that has made it possible for us to edit this yearbook

High School Principal's Message

Each year, the graduating classes of our schools form another wave of strength and find their way into our society to replace those who for various reasons, have become inactive. It is these students that the world must look to in the near future for guidance, because our children are the future. We must realize that other moments in history have been as hazardous as our own. We must also realize that through faith, truth, beauty and goodness, we too can be free from the kinds of bias that destroy. Let us hope that we, as teachers, have properly encouraged the best hopes that we have found harbored in the minds of our students. Let us hope, also, that these young people who pass from the haven of our schools to the fields of battle have something worth keeping in their hearts because of what we have taught them. We hope that our teachings will eventually help them to build a more humane society than we have been able to achieve.

Grade School Principal

To the students of New Deal Grade School

You are a wonderful group of boys and girls. You are gaining, each day you spend in school, many experiences that will be of great benefit throughout your life. It is your duty, while in grade school, to develop correct attitudes. You are to grow spiritually and mentally during the remainder of your school days and on through life.

KID DAY
FOR THE SENIORS!

Ain't they cute? Bashful, too. Thelma Perkins, Margaret Ketchum, Dorrel Emery, and Jeanie Wadsworth.

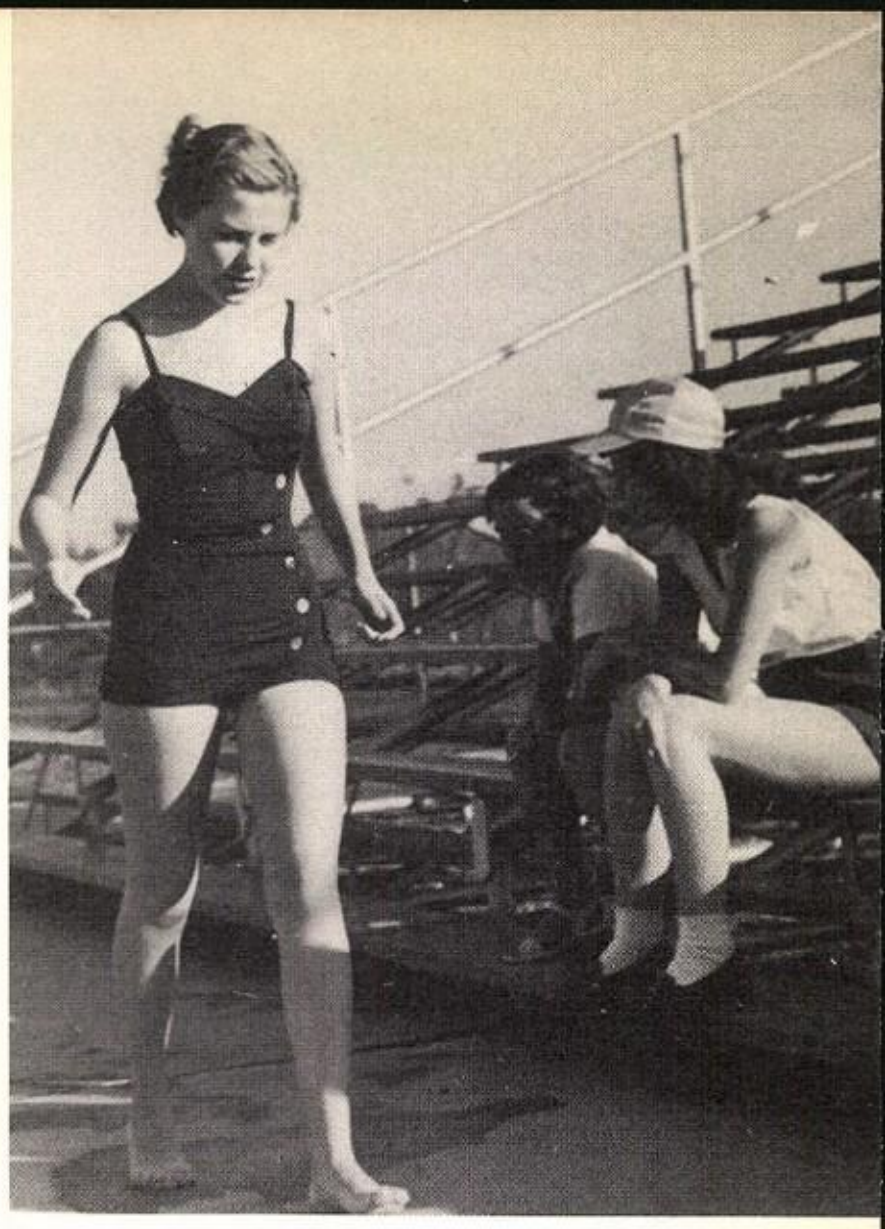
Hold your fire, Loyd, I'll give you a bite out of my lollypop.

These little rascals obviously haven't been away from the cradle very long. Loyd Jeffcoat, James Norman. Overton Goodgion, Bobby Shropshire, Clifton Wilkins, Billy Ray Gideon, Sammy Doyle.

THAT WONDERFUL SENIOR TRIP!

One of the highlights of the Seniors' year was definitely the trip to Austin, San Antonio, Corpus Christi, and points along the way. On these two pages we have tried to record just a few of the highlights of this memorable excursion.

At left we see Jeanie striding happily along at the pool in San Antonio with Dorrel and Thelma seemingly more interested in something in the pool--probably some old boy. Below, we see the gang as they tested their sea legs at Corpus Christi. And at the bottom of the page, Mr. and Mrs. Henry, the affable sponsors.



ON THE OPPOSITE PAGE:

1. General Wilkins explains the workings of an old firing piece to some of the lads.
2. Governor Shivers is too busy to join the group posing in front of the Capitol.
3. What are the wild waves saying to Mrs. Henry? Something funny, obviously.
4. Margaret attracts attention with a high note. Or was it just a sour one?
5. Posing in front of the Alamo in San Antonio.
6. More bathing beauties on the beach at Corpus Christi.
7. The gals take a boat ride on the San Antonio river.
8. Those walls of the Alamo would probably collapse if this bunch wasn't holding them up.
